FALLING LEAVES ABOUT DOUBLE STANDARD OF RICHES AND POVERTY

The Poor Jugged For Things Wealthy Are Applauded For Doing

By FAY KING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—If the society dames continue to pose around with their skirts up over their knees a certain pink sporting paper that used to specialize on shapely legs will be getting confused with the society journals. It would seem that some of the old family trees would think if they could see how their limbs have turned out.

You pick up the paper and there are pictures of this Mrs. Who-is-just-back-from-Europe, or that Mrs. Who-Was who is just sailing away, and you can't remember one from the other because all there is to see are long shanks of shameless ankles from the knee down.

If the same pictures were of girls employed in a laundry or a pickle factory everybody would think it was perfectly horrible and outrageous, and a menace to the public morals, but alas, when the stockings are monogrammed and a gold purse glints in the sunshine and diamond bracelets flash, it's quite "smart" and "cute."

NURSE'S SLAYER GOES TO DEATH ASKING PRAYERS

"Not Afraid to Die," Brown Says As Trap Is Sprung in Baltimore Prison.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1.—Henry A. Brown, colored, was hanged in the city jail here today for slaying Miss Harriet M. Kavanaugh, a Naval Academy nurse, at Annapolis, Md. "Another man got me into this trouble, and I ain't afraid to die," Brown said just before the trap was sprung by United States Marshal William W. Stockham.

That statement by Brown was taken by officials to mean a confession, but repudiated it.

Brown's actions in the face of death caused jail attaches to wonder. His unconcern, they said, was remarkable.

During the last few weeks Brown has spent much of his time playing a harmonica. Early last night he took his seat in his cell and began playing negro melodies. Later he played a score of sacred songs. At midnight he sought comfort in playing weird negro camp-meeting songs.

At 3 o'clock this morning Brown played himself to sleep. When he awoke at 6 o'clock he ate heartily a big chicken breakfast. After smoking three black cigars he passed the time until 7:55 o'clock with the Rev. Joseph Ayer, S. J., prison chaplain.

At 7:55 o'clock he stood on the gallows and ten minutes later he was pronounced dead by Coroner John J. Morriney and Lt. Comdr. William J. Townsend.

For the first time in the memory of jail attaches here, Brown requested prayer after he mounted the scaffold. The two scores or more of persons who stood around the place removed their hats and stood silently for a moment before the trap was sprung.

Some weeks ago when President Harding refused to intercede for Brown, the condemned man became moody, but for the last week he had been cheerier and apparently resigned to his fate. He had complete control of himself today and did not flinch when the black cap was placed on his head and the rope affixed about his neck.

NUMBER OF IDLE BOX CARS SHOWS SLIGHT DECREASE

Nearly half a million freight cars were idle on American railroads on August 23 because of business depression, according to reports to the American Railway Association. This number, however, it was stated, was a decrease of 3,195 cars compared with the total on August 15.

Of the total 491,399 idle cars on August 23, 270,024 were serviceable, while the remaining 221,375 were in need of repairs. Tabulations showed that the former was a decrease in approximately a week of 14,314 cars, while the number of cars in bad order was an increase of 6,119 over the last previous figures received up to August 1.

Car shortage which has been reported in certain localities, principally because of increased demand for grain cars, is gradually disappearing, the association said.

DETECTIVE, HELD AS FLIRT, ACCUSED OF HITTING GIRL

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—John Newman, of Brooklyn, who says he is a private detective, was held in $1,000 bail by Magistrate Ligt yesterday on complaint of Miss Alice Sutherland, a stenographer.

Miss Sutherland said she was returning from a theater in Manhattan on the subway and a man began flirting with her. When she left the subway the man followed and threw his arms about her, she said. She resisted, she added, and he struck her on the jaw.

Her assailant was captured after a chase.

WINDOW GLASS WORKERS ACCEPT 28 P. C. PAY CUT

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—An agreement was reached here yesterday between the National Window Glass Workers' Association and the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers, when the union, according to Joseph Neenan, president, accepted a 28 per cent reduction in wages.

Approximately 15,000 men and sixty factories are involved. The scale becomes operative between September 6 and 19, and is effective for thirteen weeks, instead of twelve, as heretofore. The second period, which also is in operation for thirteen weeks, begins February 15.

FEDERAL CLERK, IN SERVICE 60 YEARS, RETIRES

Record Includes Four Years in Army in Civil War—Presented With Chair.

After sixty years of continuous service for the Government, including four years of army service in the civil war, William H. Womersley, a clerk in the coast guard service, today is enjoying first real rest in years, following his retirement yesterday.

At a meeting of the officers and employees of the coast guard headquarters yesterday Commander W. E. Reynolds, commandant of the service, presented Mr. Womersley a Morris chair on behalf of the local personnel.

Mr. Womersley has a record of service unique in the history of the Federal service in Washington. He was born March 18, 1842, and enlisted July 25, 1861, in the Eighteenth Massachusetts volunteer infantry. On December 11, 1862, he was transferred to Troop M, First United States cavalry, and honorably discharged therefrom August 25, 1864.

He entered the civil service of the Government in the quartermaster general's office of the War Department in 1865, where he served until 1870; from 1871 to 1880 he served in the surgeon general's office of the War Department.

On July 20, 1880, he entered the office of the revenue cutter service, which was later merged into the coast guard, and has served there continually to the present time. Mr. Womersley has, therefore, served in the civil service of the United States for fifty-six years, and including his civil war service in the army, has served his country for nearly sixty years.

PUBLIC GARDENS WILL BE OPENED AGAIN NEXT YEAR

200 Acres in Anacostia Will Be Added to System, Colonel Sherrill Announces.

More than 2,000 Washingtonians who have cultivated gardens in Potomac Park this year and produced a crop estimated to be worth $75,000 will be allowed to retain their gardens next year, it was announced today by Col. Clarence O. Sherrill, superintendent of public buildings and grounds.

The gardens will not be converted into an extension of the present golf course, he said, but added that the gardens in the lower part of the park will have to be cleared away after this year as they are developing into breeding places for mosquitoes. This action, however, will be offset by the fact that more than 200 acres of fertile ground in Anacostia, formerly known as the Anacostia flats, will be thrown open to the residents of the District of Columbia who desire to cultivate gardens next year and raise their own vegetables. Last year's crop in the Potomac Gardens amounted to approximately $60,000. There were 700 gardens allotted and it is estimated that more than 1,500 persons took part in cultivating them. In addition to the $60,000 crop, the gardeners reported that 43,000 cans of preserves were obtained from the products. This year 500 gardens were cultivated by more than 2,000 people, and it is estimated that the crop will be in excess of $75,000. The work is being carried on under the direction of W. R. Beattie, of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Beattie was assistant to W. C. Hall, District agricultural agent of the department, under whose direction the gardens were cultivated last year and the year before. Mr. Hall resigned last May to become secretary of the chamber of commerce, at Lusk, Tex.

AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER

FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY

WE WILL ALLOW

$15.00 For Your Old Water Heater

regardless of style, size or condition, the only requirement being that it shall be in actual use at the present time and that a new LOVEKIN Automatic Gas Water HEATER shall be installed.

The Lovekin heater is of the storage type and is one of the most satisfactory heaters on the market today. It is not quite as well known in Washington as some of the other style automatic Heaters, and it is for this reason that we are making this special introductory offer.

Remember the Time is Limited

The offer applies only on the bonafide purchase of a Lovekin Heater. This special cash discount will be allowed if the purchase is made direct from us or from any FIRST-CLASS PLUMBER.

How the Lovekin Operates

The Lovekin is a storage type of heater consisting of a specially constructed boiler with a central heating chamber, the heat being applied directly to the special boiler. After the heater is started the gas burns until water is heated to about 140° at which temperature a thermostat automatically closes off the gas leaving only a small pilot light. When hot water is drawn, cold replaces it in the heater lowering the temperature of the water and again the thermostat operates, this time bringing on the gas which ignites from the pilot and heats the water. The pilot light costs less than 1 cent per day.

It Lights Itself.

The Lovekin is entirely automatic. Once lighted it requires no attention. No matches, no dirt, no bother. You can always have abundant hot water at every hour, day or night.

The Lovekin gives you hot water—any time you want it—at a cost you can afford and in all probability at a much less cost than you expected. The consumption of gas by a "Lovekin" is surprisingly small.

Storage Type

The storage type heater is popular where the economy of operation is a consideration.

The water is stored in a heavily insulated tank, the size of the tank depending on the requirements. There is a size to meet every need.

Also with the storage Lovekin the present gas supply usually suffices and no larger gas meter is necessary, making the installation a simple matter.

Efficient Burner

There is only one small gas burner, comparing in size with a regular gas range burner. It is of splendid design and is constructed with slots around the circumference through which the gas flows horizontally. The top cover plate prevents dirt falling into the burner slots and also serves as a condensation cup. It would be difficult to conceive a more simple, or more efficient gas burner.

Burner and Pilot Easily Accessible

The base is provided with a large door at the front, which when opened affords a full view of the gas burner. The burner is secured in the base in a suitable opening, and a door is provided for removing it. When the doors are closed on the base the heater and burner are protected from drafts, resulting in a saving in fuel.

Automatic Gas Regulator

The temperature of the water is controlled by means of the Lovekin Automatic Gas Regulator with the celebrated "Siphon" control which has been fully tested in years of service and is undoubtedly the best that can be had.

It has a snap action, and all working parts are inclosed. The regulator enables automatic service to be obtained without attention.

Large Combustion Chamber

This insures proper combustion of gases and renders it very efficient and easily accessible for cleaning. The cold water inlet, at the top of the boiler, connects to an internal pipe which runs within three inches of the bottom. This avoids any sediment collecting in the inlet pipe.

Tank Heavily Insulated

The outside of the boiler is heavily insulated, reducing radiation losses to a minimum.

No Coils to Clog

The Lovekin Automatic Gas Water Heater has no sections or coils to clog within either the flame space or the boiler itself. Therefore, it will keep up its efficiency for years.

Not Affected by Water Pressure

The Lovekin operates entirely independent of water pressure and is especially suitable for use where water pressure is poor. There is no restriction in the flow of the hot water; it flows freely as it does from the cold water faucet.

No Waste of Gas

The storage principle of heating, together with applying the heat directly to the water reservoir, enables the Lovekin to get the maximum heating value out of the gas.

No Attention Required

The Lovekin can be placed in the cellar or laundry or other out-of-the-way place—it requires no attention.
